Arc Guide to Tips Case Managers Can Use to Help Prevent Abuse of People with Disabilities

Model behavior that builds respect and dignity
- Use Person-First language. Use ‘person with a disability’ instead of ‘disabled person’
- See the person as a person first. Remember the disability does not define the person
- Provide information about personal rights in a format that can be easily understood by the person
- Keep the person ‘in the loop’ on what is happening
- Offer choices when the person needs to make a decision
- Use qualified interpreters when the person uses a language you are not fluent in
- Be aware of any negative attitudes, beliefs, or stereotypes you have about people with disabilities. Work to change them.

Ensure individual are supported when they report abuse and/or you suspect abuse
- Understand your agency’s policy on reporting abuse and neglect including any internal investigation process
- Attend training opportunities on abuse and neglect
- Report neglect and abuse. It is not your job to determine if it occurred. It is your job to report it.
- Provide information on victim services. Help the person connect with services if necessary.

In working with the individual’s support system including family members, guardian, and staff
- Help them to be aware of signs of neglect and abuse
- Assist individuals to process and report when neglect or abuse is suspected
- Be open to talk about this issue as well as any caregivers stresses

Help prevent abuse
- Learn about Risk Management and Safety Plan used with individual with disabilities. Ensure that individuals you are serving have a comprehensive health and safety plan that is thorough and accurately reflects the needs of the individual
- Ensure that any Risk Management Plan is thorough and accurately reflects the needs of the individual
- Assist individuals to create a network of support that extends beyond their paid service providers

For further information or advocacy services, contact The Arc Greater Twin Cities at 952-920-0855 or visit www.arcgreatertwincities.org. Thank you!

This document is not legal advice, and should not be construed as such. Thus, no information herein should replace the sound advice of an attorney.
Arc Guide to Tips Case Managers Can Use to Help Prevent Abuse of People with Disabilities

- Remember that family members, guardians and staff may be offenders and/or protect offenders. Pay attention to what is being said and not said.
- Educate yourself on obstacles unique to individuals with disabilities
- Regularly have conversations about abuse and neglect with co-workers
- Be aware of other types of abuse including bullying, cyber-bulling and intranet risks

To report neglect and abuse, contact the Minnesota Adult Abuse Reporting Center at 884-880-1574 (toll-free), 24 hours/day, 7 days a week
  - Case managers are mandated reporters
    - Mandated reporters can make a report online at https://edocs.dhs.state.mn.us/lfserv/Public/DHS-6303-ENG

August 2016

For further information or advocacy services, contact The Arc Greater Twin Cities at 952-920-0855 or visit www.arcgreatertwincities.org. Thank you!

This document is not legal advice, and should not be construed as such. Thus, no information herein should replace the sound advice of an attorney.